

Inequality in life expectancy widens for women

Wealthier women can expect to live longer than their parents did, while life expectancy for poor women may have declined.

Life expectancy for 50-year-olds in a given year, by quintile of income over the previous 10 years

Source: National Academies of Science, Engineering and Medicine